*AES guarantees its products against defective or broken material for their normal wear life. It also guarantees its delivery terms and overall service, taking full responsibility of situations under their control.

Having said this, AES does not hold itself responsible for possible delays in delivery terms that are due to external situations. Under no conditions shall AES be liable for any special, contingent, or consequential damage, nor for machine work, labor charges, transport charges, taxes or other expenses incurred on its products.

All guaranty options are subject to confirm by AES Quality & Control Department after having the fully filled and signed Guaranty Form by the Claimer. The Guaranty Form is applicable within the first 60 days of the Bill of Lading date.
